Introduction…

There are moments in life when something small suddenly feels big
A simple scene
A stray dog
A leaf falling
A shadow on the ground
A thought in the middle of the night
And you realize there's something hidden inside these tiny things
Something louder than what people notice
Something deeper than what people bother to understand

That is where this book was born

My Eyes Beyond Reality is not a fancy phrase
It is just the way I learned to look at life
Not with the eyes that see the world
But with the eyes that see through the world

Reality is what everyone accepts
Beyond reality is what only a few pause to feel

When I named this book, I wanted to show readers that there is a second layer to everything
A side that people ignore because they are too busy
Too distracted
Or too afraid to look deeper
Through these poems, I tried to put light on that hidden layer
That invisible side of emotions and experiences

These poems came from moments that felt ordinary but carried huge meaning
A mother dog feeding her babies
A rock carved into a deity
A child without food
A phone taking over someone's mind
A tree losing its last leaf
A man losing his life to his own choices
Small things maybe
But powerful if you listen to them

I didn't write these poems to impress anyone
I wrote them because they happened inside me
And I wanted to share that feeling with whoever chooses to read this

This book will not just make you read
It will make you sit with your thoughts
It will make you slow down
It might hurt you in places

It might comfort you in others
But most importantly it will make you see
Really see
Not the world in front of your eyes
But the world behind it

So take your time with every poem
Read a little
Feel a lot
Let the words settle in your mind
Let the emotions settle in your heart

This is not just a book
This is a small opening into how I see life
And maybe
Just maybe
It will help you open your own eyes
Beyond reality

— Dhanush

Phase-1: The inner world….

A weird thought…🤔

I was thinking about my life and my cat came near me hence I took a break so that my mind would get free. The supreme is living in a place where no one had been, then how the humans claimed they had seen said bruce lee

The cat meowed and went to roam outside and suddenly a thought popped up inside.
If cats cannot think, if they cannot talk hence they did not create rules which we did with papers fully stacked.

We have a superpower being able to think but this might be the reason humanity may sink. Because when people started to think they created a few rules which become limitations without any link.

This proves nobody saw the god we created, which means every spiritual text was never written by a superhuman but a human who just used his mind and had a mindset fixed.

The moment we realize it, we become a daring man but when the ego comes to the play, then your numbers start to reduce from your life span.

No sage or priest was a dumb human like you, because every rule was to control your ego because when you feel power in your hand, downfall is the place you might land.

Dhanush says,
Because of the world's fear everyone stopped to question but if you don't do so then how will you know the reason. You doom scroll and your mind is already a rotten flesh and you say, thinking ahh it will make me feel stressed.

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

Limitations…〜

As the horizon divides the ocean and sky, there are two types of limitations but they seem to be the same in the eyes of society because they don't need you to fly high.
When you hear this word it may feel like boring stuff but in reality if you learn its principles, your life will be less difficult.

Limitation means two things, one, it means where you will stop and two where the boundary is drawn by the society so that you may not be the next king. These things may feel silly but sometimes a wild plant may seem to be a lily.

When a child dreams to be the iron man of marvel, but his surroundings say science proves it won't happen and it is only possible in comics and novels.
Every single time a superhero is gone from our earth but a limited mind is created but which has zero worth.

Long back in an Olympic game, runners thought running so fast would be impossible and it is also proved by science, no one tried to break that boundary until a man finally broke it and smiled, then the game had just began because now they break the impossible in every single race and lose the match saying that breaking the impossible of those days was just for fun.

This poem says,
Do not have a limited mind because if you listen to what the society says about your limits later it is possible it will be the only thing you will find. Do not limit the power of your brain but limit yourself from anything that has no gain.
——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

Break the chain… ⛓️

You were Walking in the park, playing in the rain;
There is no gain if you sit and scroll on your phone thinking about hiding your pain.

You were sitting on chairs, talking to the one who cared; there is no gain even if you have hundred friends on social media and you are walking in an empty lane.

You are addicted to the isolated media, not reading encyclopedia but you don't know the phone has a chain! A chain that has no gain yet feels like you have no pain.

Dhansh says,
To explore the world, to rewire your brain;
Just break the chain…

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

The shadow…

Imagine a man’s shadow suddenly talked and would always give advice before he even walked.

The shadow would avoid him to do all bad things because it has watched him for decades then it would know when this man will have mood swings.

But imagine how easy it has been to make a decision because the answer is given and you have to only do a revision.

Your brain starts to rot and all your creativity and intelligence is destroyed but you are unaware of it and you enjoy it.

Dhanush says,
You may think this is an imaginative poem but in reality this is the international anthem. For A.I which makes your mind dumb and for your 0 privacy because whatever you have (privacy) you go and dump to apps.
Louis Brandeis struggled to get privacy rights for us but we, without reading a 3 to 4 page privacy policy, just agreed.
And the fact is your a.i knows more about yourself rather than you knowing more about yourself.
And if you were so reflective then you might have used A.I effective but not destructive.

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

Addiction…

You may think addiction is a serious thing and there is no cure but with your mindset and hardwork the results are gonna shock you for sure.

Ram thinks he is addicted so he searches for how to get rid of it on the internet, but he will never get the answer for it and I will bet.Because when the sun starts to rise the darkness gets cleared in the same way if Ram decides to not do it again then they may get feared. So the first step is to identify the stage of your addiction to find a solution for its reduction.

Sonu had an addiction to cigarettes and needed them everywhere even if he walked either left or right. He understood the stage of his addiction but his bank account transaction was full of deductions because he bought cigarettes very often. Because if a frog is kept in an already heated water it jumps out but if you keep it in cool water and slowly increase the flame it stays and without knowing it dies, the same way if you suddenly stop smoking, the addiction comes back but if you leave it very Slowly the addiction flies. So the second step is to raise the flame slowly high so that the frog does not feel it is gonna die and slowly the addiction will fly.

Rahul left his alcohol addiction after the steps of identification and slow reduction but due to his small mistake in a birthday party the addiction returned. He just had a sip of it and the kick made his addiction come once again. But the lesson learnt here is what makes it a gain. So step 3 never do it again not even once because once you become rich(non addicted) if you don’t spend wisely even for a single time then you have to become a beggar(addicted) and have tea and buns

Dhanush says,
Problems come with a solution, be calm and think because sometimes the problem itself becomes a clue if you think, reflect and link the pieces through.

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

Never give up…✊

When everyone says you should give up because it is impossible, let your intelligence say you try and try again because the one who fails is not the person who can't do it but exit it too fast because every time you try again your success rate increases by teaching you a lesson after every failure, maybe the first or even the last.

Every time you give up too fast, your fire of consistency decreases but when you try and try a lot until your last chance, sometimes you may not win but your inner strength automatically increases.

When you try again and again, luck may leave you, people in your surrounding may pull you but these things are inevitable, you must do your best because as you know this is not new.

This poem says,
Never give up until you complete every chance, I cannot make sure you will win after this but when you come out after you try something hard, something special in you gets enhanced. It may be in business or in sport every time the participant decides to never give up they become g.o.a.t.

PHASE 2 — Love, Bonds & Human Values

A mother’s love….🐾

There’s a female dog, Timmy, on my road — kind and very bold.
I feed her every day, saving rupees five that she enjoy.

There is a dog I pet in my home,
But the dog on my road would always roam.

Timmy one day got missing on the road —
I thought she was losing her life.
But one day, she came in front of me, wagging her tail as usual —
But I saw a change in her that was very unusual.

She was playing in my lobby — but with her baby!
I enjoyed playing with her baby, even though they became a lot more friendly.

After a short period, she was fed by nobody,
So she was lying on the road with no food in her body.

I quickly went to the kitchen, searching for the food, and got the wasted food.
With no delays, I put the food on a plate and gave it to Timmy.

When she was eating, I observed — she was thin and her breast was dry.
This was the reason she cried.

After the meal, she ran to her children —
Who were weak before, now got strength.

I followed to see her work, but what I saw was a complete shock.
With a weak body, she was feeding her kids, cleaning their necks,
Trying to manage her weight on the legs.

This isn't ego or madness —
But the love of a mother for her kids.

Dhanush says,
Nothing is greater than a mother’s love —
Even God, because love itself is a supreme lord.

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

A father’s sacrifices… 😢

From this poem you guys will relate because your father gave an expensive toothbrush but he used what was given for free from colgate(tooth paste).

We did not understand his weight on shoulder, from his work pressure to the household fights. It was heavier than a boulder.

When you travel from aeroplanes, you check the platform number, check your seat number then you sit comfortably ordering a hamburger, you thank the pilot after the landing but forget a single thing that made you come till here. The engines which worked safely without a single fail. If the plane was your mother then the engines are your father.

You were raised as a kid from small to big every time you got sick it was being rid, but when your life's bottle and you don ‘t have a single litre of water(your parent’s love) what to do with the lid(success).

Dhanush says,
Parents are your god who gives you blessings in the form of happiness,food and your birth but will the lord bless you if you don’t respect your parents which they deserve because they are the reason you are on this earth.

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

A mother’s warning…🌎

ng….A mother had children beautiful and perfective,
But the children had planned to become destructive.

Mother got hurt and cried in pain, stop children you don’t have any gain

Children found comfort in the destruction of their mother, But forgot there was no one to live on others.

Trees got destroyed,Nature’s balance died- you never get an alternative if you continue to destroy.

Mother gives a warning to her children, Don’t take a curse from me, if I curse on you nobody will care for you.

Dhanush says,
You are a blessed child, you think even before you blink. But the ultimate truth is bitter, your mother will hate you even if you just litter. Beware of your small acts because then don’t blame “the mother’s empathy lacks”

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

A Search for Real Love…. 💕

A man once asked himself,“What is the meaning of real love?”
For he believed love was the one thing
That had nothing above.

One morning, he stood on his balcony,Drinking tea with a mind set free.
He watched the sun rise as the moon still glowed
And as the sun climbed higher,
The moon slowly disappeared.
He thought, “Love isn’t when one partner rises
By making the other disappear.”

But that night, he returned to the same balcony.
He watched the moon shining bright.He realised
“This is true love…
The sun moves aside so the moon can shine.The sun sacrifices, not competes.”

Dhanush says,
Love is a complex thing
One moment silent,
The next moment ringing.

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

A human’s value ends here…💥

A man feeds a street dog but throws plastic wrapper down, he thinks he is doing a good job hence he will be protected but silently destroying the town.

The same man goes to a railway station seeing a child well dressed and standing on the street, he ask if the child need any help but ignores a child who really needs help because he values wealth yet he thinks he is doing a good job but silently ignoring the poor, kindness loses values when your heart keeps a wealth score.

The same man again spends a lot of money and keeps a banner in a narrow road saying “accidents are caused because of your madness, please do not drink and drive.” but that same day before he finished his dinner three people lost their lives. Because of the banner in that narrow street and no place to drive, people lost their valuable lives. Yet he thinks he has done a good job but because of his madness, but he cannot see how his choices changed the moments of joy into sadness.

Dhanush says,
You may do the right things but be careful it may hurt the other living beings. If you hurt others to uplift others, you fail the duty we owe each other.

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

Your surroundings… 👬

There was a group of boys, who made a lot of noise. But another group of boys were disciplined and wisdom-defined.

You walk to them, say hi but always say a lie to yourself. You say I want to be cool so I will go to the group of boys who make a lot of noise.

But in reality, you never become cool, you will be spoiled but if you had chosen the wise boys you would have been unspoiled.

Dhanush says,
The surroundings make your mindset either good or bad, choose your circle wisely, or your future may be happy or sad.

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

PHASE 3 — The Material World

What is luxury?...🤑

A man eats his breakfast, but a beggar is trying to break the 5 day fast. For him food is luxury.

A woman rides her bike 🚲 but mike drives his car 🚗, for the woman, car is luxury but the man who has no legs, even the legs are luxury.

A child wins a prize but faiz does not, so for him the prize is a luxury.

Dhanush says,
Luxury is a perspective, life is more reflective.
You don’t need to be jealous because what you have might be the reason for others' jealousy.
Stay content with what you have, peace comes when you stop to crave.
——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

World’s poverty…

Knowledge is the thing that no one can steal, but hunger is the thing that makes us steal.

Lakhs and crores are spent on making roads, but no one cares about the hungry man who dies on the road.

A lot of money is spent on parties and making reel, but the people who are poor struggle for a one time meal.

Dhanush says,
Life is short but all needs support, don’t waste your money on bad stuff, life gets richer when you help others.

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

True meaning of happiness…😊

In my neighbour’s house there is a pet dog, I see it in the cage everyday while I am going for a jog.
I observed that there is a pattern in our world because I found out happiness is not always pearled.

When the dog is locked in a cage it is normal for it but if we are locked in a cage then it would be a trauma that we would never forget.
When the dog is taken out for a walk, for them it would be the most exciting part of the day but when we go out, it is too normal for us. Sometimes we don't go out so we make excuses saying outside there are harmful sun’s rays.

Here we can find a pattern that when the dog was too young it was made to be a cage making that thing too normal for them, but the day you get a mobile in your hand your brain resets that being silent is not normal and suddenly when as a baby sitting simply was an exciting part, now the moment you got a phone, sitting simply feels like boredom but scrolling feels like a gem.

Dhanush says,
Your brain is flexible but your environment and your mindset will decide who you will become in the future,
If you want a strong control over yourself, stop this junk and sit still for a few moments and avoid your phones for a bit, your half of the problem in life will be solved not as a forced individual but as a one who gained it through nurture.

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

Brutal truth…🔥

When a child starts to ask his mother a question which questions the society and its rules, the mother warns and says don’t repeat it again otherwise you will be called a fool.
He agrees and never repeats it again but he wants to know why so he asks his mother to explain, but she angrily says this is not the manners I have taught you just agree what the society says and move on.

Months passed and the child discovered a thing that would improve his mind wide and vast. He discovered the world of writing and reading, which he knew so fast hence a new writer would have been creating the world he needed. He wrote poems with dedication and heart but when his mother knew about it the suffering already had a start.
When mother knew he was writing then this created a fear in her head, a diamond was lost from the world listening to what she said.
She said, no need to write son because no I.A.S officer was made by writing for fun. Just read what the school teaches and you won't reach the goal but the goal would reach us.

Dhanush says,
In every house a rebel,a thinker,a writer,a founder will be made to keep quiet but only a person will become great who will neither oppose the house or follow others but creating and progressing in what they love sacrificing their nights.

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

PHASE 4 — Nature, Environment & Life Lessons

The last leaf… 🌿

A tree once in the rainy season bloomed, which looked a lot cute and even provided fruits. I thought it had an invisible magnet because all turned towards it in that segment.

The rainy season finished and the winter season arrived but the tree managed to survive. Soon after the summer season came here the sun was one to be blamed.

The tree dried, the magnet disappeared and all the leaves feared. They were falling one by one thinking their time was gone.

I observed a leaf not fearing the sun, where everyone ended he began. He managed the wind and sucked the water but his confidence shattered but after all the leaves fell down, he was the last leaf in the tree and after a while with nature’s grace he was free.

Dhanush says,
He was observed so he is mentioned here, in the same way a lot of achievers are there but never appeared. Try to show your talent otherwise you will never be called “brilliant.”

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

A beautiful morning…❤️

When you get up before the sun starts its duty then you might be able to see nature's beauty.
If you go outside of your house before six, then the colours of nature suddenly start to remix.

The two stars in the sky near the moon start to disappear as soon as the sun’s rays start to glow.
The whole sky feels cloudy but in reality the clouds are night still waiting for sun and as soon as the east sun rays fall on west the darkness starts to run.

The clouds on the hills soon get cleared getting to know what shape it is but the colours are changed of clouds and trees.

The waves of sea you get to hear, with no external distraction your mind gets cleared.
Only people with discipline wake up at this time and every action you do feels like mime(a silent performance).

Once the sun starts to rise, the clouds become a menu with starter as french fries, the weather will be cool, you are the king now because except you, now nobody wants to rule.

Dhanush says,
The way I described is just a fraction of the real beauty because nature always does a quiet but very important duty.
Now you might have understood how beautiful nature is but you just try to destroy it yet we forget to thank it by bending your knees.

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

Gold of the future… 🥇

Once upon a time, Diwali was celebrated in Gokul's making his house shine.
Every year he would clean the house with the help of his spouse which they both loved.
They would throw the waste items in the attic which was quite automatic.
But Gokul decided to clean the attic with his wife who was romantic.
She said, " I am allergic but I know my husband is aesthetic, please can you do it."

He went to the attic cleaning and arranging all things, but his eyes went to a bunch of keys which rings. He picked the keys and bent on his knees with a letter which he read in the soft breeze.

The letter said, "These are the keys for the mysterious room, after my death let your flower(life) bloom.

It was his father's letter, who died, and it was the final message he wrote beside.

He ran to the room, opened the door eager to explore.
But as soon as he opened, he was shocked because he thought he was being mocked.
He thought the room would be filled with gold but the roots,plants and traces of the trees were preserved and were 20 years old.

He became angry and was ready to smash the plant but from a distant place he saw a letter again found in the pant.

He opened the letter and it said, " dear future generation, I was in my death bed, and my eyes were red. I wanted to give you something but I had nothing, so I arranged this room for you. I thought this was real gold but I am not sure because I am old. Let this be used to the needed ones and if you get it early hide it because wait till that time comes.

He realised the matter and his enlightenment just got shattered. He closed the door and hid the keys and went to his balcony where he was being teased. Gokul was first an environment lover but his friends said if you said those words, we will hit you and you will never recover.

From the balcony he saw the factory's smoke and cracker's pollution until all the action became an intuition.

Dhanush says,
Sometimes the most valuable thing may not only be a ring, it may be the smile on the face of a child who is playing in the swing or the trees you are cutting…

Attachment…

A coconut tree grows long and tall and gives a coconut that is strong as a ball, the frond of the tree loves it the most but when the time has come it has to lose. The coconut frond falls but the tree never has a loss. The tree grows another frond but what about that old bond? The tree never cares but the frond cannot grow and it dies hence it always cries.
Dhanush says,
The coconut tree was the material world and the frond was you. You may be dependent upon them maybe but greatness begins when you stop fearing them.
Don’t be attached to anyone in this universe, balance your heart before things become worse.

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

A lesson from an insect…🐝

When Rahul had a lot of stress from his office but he forgot that obstacles were important in the life process.
He once got too stressed and decided to quit everything because he thought he lost his life's meaning.

One day he was writing his resignation letter which never made him feel better. But suddenly an insect went into the eye of Rahul which made his eyes watery and eventually swell making him more angry hence whenever he saw someone he started to yell.

He decided to take a break from everything, his family,his work, hoping for his injury to get better but his computer still held a half- written resignation letter.

When he took a break from everything, he got an answer for almost everything, reducing his stress and making his mind refresh. After a week he returned to his work not just as a clerk but a man who lost his salary but got many perks as a leader with clarity and with enhanced rarity.

Dhanush says,
When life is going through bad times and stress don't wait like Rahul waiting for the message of the universe to clean up his mess. Make this poem a reminder whenever your time is going through something hard, protect your mind before it gets shattered because you are its guard.

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

PHASE 5 — Society, System & Human Struggle.

The systems… 💢

In your schools; you walk in a line, you read only what they teach which will never make you reach what you need.

In your homes; you play with phones thinking you are carving stones, you are never made to think independently then how will you respond intelligently.

In the streets; if you throw a stone at a dog and if they run, you will make this fun but when the dog reacts and asks for its freedom you call the dog jailers and destroy their kingdom. You use the system to destroy the one who challenges the system.

Dhanush says,
Your ambitions are big and you want to be great, escape the trap before it is too late. No great inventors or successful men followed the system. The secret of their success was the reason they made these wise decisions.

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

The test of stones….🪨

There were a two rocks sitting on the quill of hen,
They whispered to themselves “men are coming testing on a book with his pen.”
In need of a great rock,they examined each block.
Got the rocks, cried the man with a face with shock,
The two rocks were excited to explore the world,but in the process they got divided between two. One went with a businessman for his looks and another without an option went with a spiritual man.

Rock with a businessman got a premium pack,but the rock with the spiritual man was tied in a sack.
The rock of the businessman thought of great luxury in life, but the rock of the spiritual man was being carved with a knife.
But ,here comes a twist in the story after a while because both were transported a single distant mile.

Transported rocks got untied for the uses, but the situation was different cases.
Rock of the businessman was used for the steps of a temple with the help of labour, but the rock of the spiritual was kept in the womb chamber.

Dhansh says,
When times are good do not think you will land in a perfect place and when times are bad do not think you will die with no trace.
Looks are abandonable but a pure mind is undeniable……!

——— ✦ ✦ ✦ ———

Whom to blame… 🤔

This is the poem of a man who grows from an infant to an old man and from a common child to a serious don.

A baby was born with so much care, the mother decided to name him with a pen in her hand which was of flair.

He was named Ram who was very quiet and in his early years he made a friend whose name was Sam.

Ram in his childhood never took a decision because he was the only child of his parents so with a lot of care they wanted his life easy, making him walk only in procession not alone. But due to this their family's economy had a recession.

Ram in his teenage started making bad friends due to which he started watching bad things. But soon he was caught by his mother, hurted mother decided to correct him but this made his life's cycle break its own rim.

He was punished severely making him traumatic and being separated from his friends from the day this happened his emotional side actually ends.

Making this mistake their parents did not correct him, but instead made his life dim. With his traumatic pain he became psychological ill which had no pill to cure him.

In his 20s he hated the one who had friends and those who were happy in front of him, thinking their life was already near an end.

In his 30s he was caught by the police because law is always foolproof even if you have great allies. He regretted his life, the day he was being executed he was scared of the knife he used to kill innocent life.

He asked for a last wish in his life. He wanted to write a letter to his parents and his wife. He wrote who is responsible because even though my mother was not trustable, I thought life was inevitable but the day of my death is near. Maybe I have more lessons to share than any successful people on earth because suffering taught me truths that comfort never brought since birth.

When the police read it their eyes filled with tears and his parents roared their pain in the form of tears.

Dhanush says,
As elders say criminals are not born, they are made. The environment made your life and your suffering taught you more than when you are in a mourn.
You cannot blame a single person for his mistake because one fish cannot be punished because it is in a lake because another man brought it and you see only what is fake.

A dangerous protest…😦

Imagine nature starts to protest, we were destroying them, now we have to protect.

We needed a place to build houses and more, hence nature decided to destroy your house and make trees fall in front of your door.

We burn fuels so that our travel may become easy even for a short distance but nature said, release carbon dioxide and destroy nature's balance because the more you do so your breathing kills you not tomorrow but consistent.

We burn crackers on every occasion, we release harmful smoke to the sky causing global warming and pollution.
Nature decided to reverse it by melting icebergs causing tsunamis and cyclones. You complained about the weather but did you think about it alone?

Dhanush says,
The things I provided are scary right but they were not my imagination in the night, instead the reality that has been displayed in T.V which wetted my sight.
That protest is already started and nature is already giving you a warning:
Stop it otherwise I will do it.

Acknowledgement.

There are a few people without whom this book would not even exist
My family comes first especially my mother and my uncle who stood beside me in every moment and kept believing in me even when I was unsure of myself
Their support is the quiet strength behind every page of this book

I want to thank God for guiding my mind and my thoughts and for giving me the courage to write what I truly feel
And to the many minds who inspired me in different ways some through their words and some through the way they live their life you helped me think deeper and see beyond the usual

The motivation, the belief and the support I received from all of you stayed with me like a warm light.
This acknowledgement is my simple way of saying thank you with all the gratitude and warmth my heart can hold.

Author’s Note.

I started writing these poems with a strange mix inside me, a kind of calmness, and at the same time the quiet pain of seeing people I cannot always help. I didn’t plan to become a poet or anything. I just wrote what my mind whispered, and slowly those whispers became 25 poems. While writing them, something shifted inside me. The way I look at the world today is not the same as before. Every small thing feels deeper now, more meaningful, almost like it carries a hidden layer that only opens when you look with patience.

These poems changed me. They made me think like a young author, not just a kid scribbling lines. And I hope that when you read this book, you feel a bit of that too. I wish you walk out with some pride in yourself and a little more clarity in your own thoughts.

If my future self reads this after five years, I want him to remember this clarity, the mind he built step by step, poem by poem, thought by thought. And if you’re reading this right now, I just want to say thank you. Thank you for giving your time, your eyes, and your mind to my words.

This book is called My Eyes Beyond Reality because that’s exactly how these poems were born from looking at the world not just as it is, but as what it means.
